

Maggie had a rooster. It woke her up every morning.

But one morning the rooster didn't crow and Maggie didn't wake up until ten o'clock! That rooster must be sick said Maggie.

So Maggie took the rooster to the animal doctor. The animal doctor looked down the rooster's throat. This rooster must have a cold he said. And he gave Maggie a prescription.

Prescription

Name: Rooster

Medicine: cold Pills

Directions: Take two pills at night after food.

Maggie gave the rooster the pills. But the rooster didn't crow and Maggie didn't wake up until twelve o'clock! That rooster is still sick said Maggie.

So Maggie took the rooster back to the animal doctor. The animal doctor looked down the rooster's throat. He looked in the rooster's eyes. This rooster must have a fever he said. And he gave Maggie another prescription.

Prescription

Name: Rooster

Medicine: Fever medicine

Directions: Take two teaspoons of medicine at night.

Maggie gave the rooster the medicine. But the medicine didn't work. The rooster didn't crow and Maggie stayed asleep until three o'clock! How terrible said Maggie that rooster must be very very sick.

So Maggie took the rooster back to the animal doctor. The animal doctor looked under the rooster's feathers and under the rooster's feet.

This rooster must be too old to crow he said You will have to get a new rooster.

The roosters feathers went up. Its head went back and it crowed and crowed and crowed! That rooster is not sick shouted the animal doctor. And that rooster is not old. That rooster is just lazy!

Prescription

Name: Rooster

Cream: Lazy Rooster cream

Directions: Put cream on legs and beak at night.