

Marvin looked after the park. One morning he saw a woolly mammoth under the trees. He stopped and stared. A woolly mammoth? he said to himself. I can't have a woolly mammoth in this park!

Marvin went to the library to find out about woolly mammoths. He read...

Woolly mammoths, woolly mammoths, were like elephants. They had a long woolly hair. They had long tusks. They lived in the ice and snow.

Woolly mammoths like cold places said Marvin. I will have to make an ice cave. Then I can catch that woolly mammoth.

So Marvin made an ice cave in the back of his truck. He put the truck in the park. Then he went home to wait for the woolly mammoth to go into the truck.

The next day Marvin went to the park. He heard noises in the ice truck. Good! said Marvin. That woolly mammoth is in the truck. I will take it back to the ice and snow.

But when he looked inside the ice truck was full of...

Seals! said Marvin. This ice truck is not for seals. But the woolly mammoth was nowhere to be seen.

Marvin put the ice truck in the park every day. He got penguins. He got sea lions. And he even got polar bears!

Polar bears! said Marvin's friends you can't put that ice truck in the park any more!

Today Marvin still looks after the park. And sometimes he sees big footprints on the grass under the trees. That woolly mammoth has been here again he says.
